DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-5, 6 and 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bergh et al. (6,749,814). This rejection was made in the previous Office Action (mailed 6/30/2005). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Inventorship

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bergh et al. (6,749,814) in view of Priddy et al. (4,572,819). This rejection was made in the previous Office Action (mailed 6/30/2005). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

6. Claims 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bergh et al. (6,749,814) in view of Citron et al. (6,586,541). This rejection was made in the previous Office Action (mailed 6/30/2005). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 10/31/2005 with respect to the reference "Bergh ('814)" have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant has argued that since Bergh ('814) does not contain the axial heating profile disclosure of the first cited Bergh reference (US2002/0170976), then Bergh ('814) does not teach the changing of reaction variables over time in individual reactors. The Examiner respectfully disagrees. In columns 43-45, Bergh teaches the varying of parameters including temperature and pressure. Applicant has also highlighted passages from column 44 and column 45 to support their arguments, but these passages are mostly directed to group control of the reactors. The Examiner believes these passages also contain teachings of varying reaction parameters for each reactor. The Examiner directs applicant specifically to column 44, lines 24-26 and also lines 43-50. In lines 24-26, Bergh clearly states that the individual reactors can be temperature controlled in addition to the group control to which Applicant has referred. Lines 43-50 recite varying the pressure for individual reactors in addition to the entire group.

8. In addition to the passages cited from columns 43-45, the Examiner also directs applicant to column 67, lines 16-67. In the passage from column 67, Bergh teaches the optimization of a chemical reaction by independently or collectively (line 35) varying the temperature, pressure, residence time, and reactant or catalyst amounts for two or more reactors. Bergh then goes on to specify that the parameters that may be controlled individually in the reactors include temperature and (lines 50-52) and pressure (lines 52-53).

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
